

ABSTRACT

A sterilization container system includes an enclosure having a flexible elastomeric mat therein. The mat is preferably formed of medical grade silicon. A pattern of ridges is formed on a lower surface of the mat such that no fold line can traverse the mat without intersecting one or more ridges.